Puerto Rico-born and Miami-bred, Robbie has been a prominent figure on the global house music scene for two decades. Whether it be his original productions, such as the UK dance chart topping "Bang" (It was performed live on MTV and Top Of The Pops and used extensively throughout the 2000 Sydney Olympic Games) or remixes for the likes of U2, Deadmau5, Tiesto, Kaskade, New Order, Clean Bandit, Erasure, Basement Jaxx and David Guetta, to name a few, one thing is always constant with Robbie Rivera. He is a master in bringing sexy back to house music.

In addition to his skills behind board and on the decks, Robbie and his wife Monica are the purveyors of the acclaimed "Juicy" brand and the infamous Juicy Beach parties that have become a staple event during Miami Music Week and Winter Music Conference. Robbie and Monica's collaboration is even felt on "Twenty" as she has personally designed all the cover art by hand.

"Twenty" pulls together the essence of Robbie Rivera's music from the the last two decades and offers 12 tracks that traverse the many twists and turns that make up house music. Robbie Rivera will support the release of "Twenty" with live performances throughout North America this Fall.
