We were treated to plenty of EDM/pop punk crossovers in 2019 - from Rezz and Underoath's 'Falling' to Sub Focus' rework of Bring Me The Horizon's 'Mother Tongue' - and now My Chemical Romance frontman Gerard Way has crossed into the genre.

Way joins Tommie Sunshine, Disco Fries and Wrongchild for new single "Falling In Love Will Kill You."

Give it a whirl below and let us know what you think of the collab.

It's not the first time My Chemical Romance and EDM have met - with Sullivan King and Kayzo delivering a remix of MRC smash 'Helena' late last year.

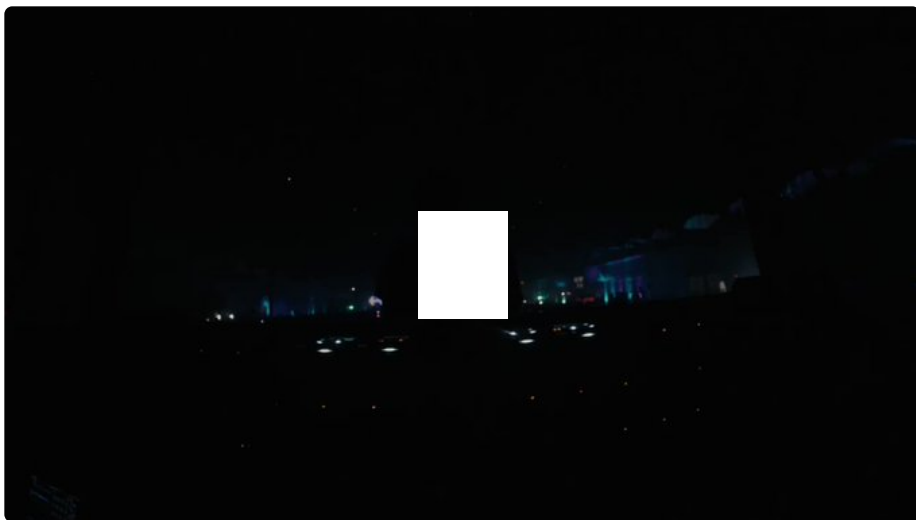

Check out a clip of that collaboration here, which has only been seen in live sets so far:
